

'BATTLE OF BROTHERS' HOLDS YALE ROCKERS INTEREST

OVERSHADOWS ALL BUT 'BIG 3' GAMES

Meeting Between Eli and Iowa Elevens Is Regarded as Rare Treat.

HOWARD JONES FAVORED

Westerners Picked to Lead Bulldog in Charge of Tad Jones.

By W. O. MCGEEHAN.

There are plenty of signs in the air that the football season is well under way. The coaches are beginning to chatter lugubriously and the reports from the various hospital wards connected with the various colleges are to the effect that about the best men on all the teams are crippled and quite likely to be out for the rest of the season. This is a certain indication that most of the coaches are quite sure that their teams will win.

Yale reports the largest list of cripples with the Iowa game due tomorrow. This is regarded as more than a mere preliminary game, it is even more than an "intercollegiate contest." It is the battle of the Jones Brothers, football coaches and good ones. Brother Tad is the director of Yale strategy and the mold of the Yale team. Brother Howard is performing a similar office for the Iowa eleven.

On the basis of past ante-bellum statements it must be inferred that the Yale people regard this as a highly important game, in fact next in importance to the two with Princeton and Harvard—for nothing could be more important than these two games.

Match Long in Making.

The negotiations for the Yale-Iowa game have extended over a considerable period. Brother Tad and Brother Howard have been sparring ardently over permitting the thing to be arranged. Each came to the conclusion this year that he had the better team, consequently the "battle of the brothers" was placed on the schedule.

The odds against the injuries announced one feels inclined to predict Yale to win. The Yale hospital list seems to be about the biggest announced to date, but the list of injured from Iowa has not yet been revealed. It may be that the Iowans can show a bigger list and consequently by the inverse football reason indicate greater strength and better chances of winning.

The odds according to those who are familiar with this more or less inconsequential phase of the football game, have switched in favor of the Iowans. This is very true in betting on football games, and the matter of odds indicates very little. In the intercollegiate game more than in any other the odds frequently are crossed. Experience should tell one to beware of a football team which, on the eve of battle, reports that the team is crippled by injuries and hints that the chances are not good. It means that the team is about to put up quite a battle, especially a Yale eleven.

Goals of Gloom at Princeton.

From Nassau's halls, come the report that the Princetonians are "prepared for the worst" when they meet Colgate tomorrow at Palmer Stadium. The Tiger eleven started the season with poorer material than they have had at Princeton for many years, and their showing against Virginia last Saturday was far from impressive.

With Gilroy placed on the ineligible list Coach William Roper found himself without any particular holdover star and in the position where he has had to develop not one but a number of them. Consequently the game with Colgate, which used to be merely a preliminary game, may be the one to decide just how far Roper has advanced in this work. This break in the continuity of a football system makes real work for a coach, and sometimes almost impossible work at that.

Whatever the result of the Princeton-Colgate game may be, for one, believe that by the time Princeton is ready to face Yale and Harvard the Tigers will not make quite the puny showing that some expect them to make. Roper has shown that he is a great builder of football teams. He may also demonstrate that he is one of the most rapid of the team makers.

As for tomorrow's game a better way to look upon it from the Princeton standpoint would be to recognize the fact that Harlow's Colgate team of this year is one of the most formidable that this college has put out. All of these "preliminary games" teams have gradually become stronger. What used to be early season warm-up games have come to be real battles for Yale, Princeton and Harvard.

Where it used to be that these three had the intercollegiate football field monopolized as to interest and the taking of material the interest has become more general. Good material is being found in the smaller colleges. All of which is a good thing for the game.

Columbia Forging Ahead.

Since the reestablishment of football at Columbia the Blue and White has gradually revived the interest in its eleven-interest in football requires no great effort at revival. Also the Columbia teams of the second period in Columbia's football history gradually have become stronger and the Columbia football schedule has been stiffened. Gradually the Columbians are working toward the prestige that was Columbia's before football was prohibited.

Columbia this week meets one of its strongest opponents in Wesleyan at the "Feiz" is. This should be quite as interesting a game as there is on the schedule tomorrow. "Buck" O'Neill, in the main, has had to work with raw material from the start. Promising prep school youngsters with football potentialities pick colleges with unbroken football prestige. Under these conditions a football "system" is not easy to build nor is the necessary material easy to acquire. But with the reestablishment of interest things will change at Columbia. It will take some time but not a great deal.

In the whole arrangement of the schedule for this year makes such an early date in the football season as October 14 a livelier football date than early October has known for many a year.

Rearranged Columbia Eleven to Tackle Wesleyan.

Another signal drill was the lot of the Columbia football players yesterday, and it is expected that the athletes who made up the first team will be the ones to

50,000 Are Expected to See Yale-Iowa Game

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 12.—The Yale football management expects to hand up a bowl attendance record Saturday for an early season game, for more than 50,000 tickets will be sold for the Iowa contest. Arrangements for handling the crowd have been suddenly expanded to almost the proportions of a Princeton game, with the press box reserved because of the demand for seats in it and a special corps of student ushers and guards.

Tickets for the game have been placed with newspapers in several parts of Connecticut and the outlook is for automobile traffic to and from the city of a size comparable only with the big games at the end of the season.

start tomorrow's game against the strong Wesleyan outfit. This team differs from the Princeton team in that Saturday in the fracas with Amherst. However, only two men who began in the contest with the New Englanders are not at present on the first string eleven, and other changes being just position moves.

Thorpe Instructs N. Y. U. in Defense Against Hobart.

Pointing practice, a ten minute scrimmage with a freshman team and offensive drill for Hobart plays were the main items of the afternoon for the New York University football team.

In the scrimmage with the freshmen the varsity scored three touchdowns. Durner accounted for the first one on the 3 yard line and on the fourth down, after Toorock brought the ball from the 40 yard line to within the shadow of the goal posts. Mayner accounted for the second one on a long end run from the 45 yard line. He also accounted for the third after completing a forward from Toorock, covering twenty yards.

After the scrimmage Coach McCarthy sent the third string men through Hobart plays, while Thorpe instructed the regulars in defense for each play.

Double Practice Session for City College Candidates.

There were no classes at C. C. N. Y. yesterday and Coach Neville put his men through two practice sessions. The morning workout was light, the line-men being excused from practically all the work and the backs and ends concentrating on running down under punts and interference. Coach Neville did a large part of the punting himself.

The touch of real football weather in the afternoon gave added snap to the practice and the men worked together with more spirit than in the morning. The scrimmage, the last before Saturday's game with Providence College. The varsity had little trouble in going through the scrubs.

Snap in Bulldog's Drill as Thermometer Goes Down.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 12.—The cool weather to-day put snap into the team and despite the many changes which have been made in the line-up due to injuries, the combination tried out by Tad Jones this afternoon seemed to work very well.

There was no scrimmage for the varsity but a long signal drill to make up the greater part of the afternoon in preparation for the game against the strong Iowa eleven on Saturday.

Captain Jordan, Joe Beckett, Charlie Brown and Eddie Bench were all at the field, but only Jordan was in uniform.

Cornell Lineup in Doubt for New Hampshire Contest.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. ITHACA, Oct. 12.—Cornell brought the varsity to the field for a close drill this afternoon with the varsity lineup for the New Hampshire State game Saturday still in doubt.

MORAN KNOCKED OUT BY BECKETT IN 7TH

AMERICAN FLOORS ENGLISHMAN TWICE IN FURIOUS BOUT IN LONDON.

LONDON, Oct. 12 (Associated Press).—Joe Beckett, the British heavyweight pugilist, scored a technical knockout over Frank Moran, the American heavyweight, when the referee stopped their bout in the seventh round at Albert Hall here to-night.

The fight was fast and furious and by the time the seventh round was reached Moran was in a bad way, reeling all over the ring and unable to see.

In the fourth round Moran put Beckett down for a count of five. He repeated it in the sixth round, when Beckett stayed on the floor for seven, but the Englishman came back strong on both occasions and fought Moran to a standstill. Previously Beckett landed a heavy punch in the pit of the stomach, for which he was cautioned, and eventually the referee was forced to stop the bout, Moran being punished so badly that he could not continue.

In another contest Jack Bloomfield, British light heavyweight champion, stopped Bombardier Wells, also of England, in the sixth round.

Crescent Beats Sailors.

Entertaining a soccer eleven from the steamship Gothic eleven at Bay Ridge yesterday afternoon, the team of the Crescent Athletic Club earned an easy victory by the score of 6 goals to 1.

The game was practically decided before the change of ends, when the New Moon players led by 3-0. Grott, Scott and Clark excelled in behalf of the visitors. Barriskill and Taylor were at their best and figured conspicuously in the Crescent victory.

Princeton Varsity Team Raged in Jam With Scrubs.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, Oct. 12.—The Princeton varsity was ragged in its workout to-day, both on the offense and defense. The line showed up especially weak, the Omelets breaking through for substantial gains. The regulars scored twice against the scrubs, Jack Cleaves carrying over the first touchdown and Dick Schackelford the second.

One of the few redeeming features of the scrimmage was Peck Eubers' 30 yard run through open field. Schackelford, however, was the outstanding player of the afternoon. This sophomore was only recently taken on the training table and has been showing up so well of late that he is likely to get in Saturday's contest.

No Holiday for Enduring Harvard Football Players.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 12.—While the student body at Harvard was having a holiday to-day the varsity football players and the scrubs were putting in about the hardest day's work they have had on Soldiers Field this year. There was almost a game between the varsity regulars and the substitutes preceding a rough and tumble brush with the scrubs and the team is quite ready for tomorrow's game before Saturday's game with Bowdoin. The crimson jerseyed regulars worked mainly on the defensive in their scrimmage with the scrubs, who fought hard to duplicate their touchdown success of Wednesday, but were not successful.

Rutgers Falling in Line for March on So. Bethlehem.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 12.—The athletic office at Rutgers College, which is handling the sale of tickets here for the important Rutgers-Lehigh football battle at South Bethlehem on Saturday, estimates that more than 500 of the 800 Rutgers students will accompany the team. Rarely has Rutgers been keyed to such excitement over one of Foster Sanford's eleven as this fall.

Whippets to Race To-morrow in L. I. Association Meet

The annual meet of the Long Island Whippet Association will be held at the J. S. Phillips Field, Jericho, Tuesday, near Westbury, Long Island, to-morrow at 2 P. M.

There will be three races between some of the fastest dogs in the country. The feature will bring together six of the best dogs in America. More than fifty dogs will take part in the meet, entries coming from Chicago, Cleveland, Boston, Baltimore and Canadian cities.

In the match races the dogs will be handicapped on past performances and they will run three heats scoring on a point system. Three ex-Derby winners will be on hand, namely: Gilligan, Tommy, Black Prince and the present title holder, Ask Him; also the fast Canadian dog, The Skipper. The other two dogs are Barkinshill Dawn and Madfordfull Flight.

North Carolina Eleven Wins.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 12.—North Carolina University defeated Trinity College, 20 to 0 here today in the first football game in which the two eleven have met in thirty years.

MARTIN AND CURTIN BOUT CALLED DRAW

Decisions of Judges Seem Unpopular as First Bout Is Held at Polo Grounds.

By CHARLES F. MATHISON.

A furious battle raged over the home plate at the Polo Grounds after sundown yesterday, and there was no interference with the combat until the gong ended the tenth round. The combatants were Terry Martin, the Jersey City catamount, and Johnny Curtin, the right hook, Josephus Humphreys, declared that the judges could not pick a winner and that the bout was drawn.

Thereupon the 8,000 or 10,000 persons who had viewed the first boxing entertainment of the Polo Grounds, after a dismal howl of disapproval and filtered out of the stadium. The spectators had seen two good bouts, those between Curtin and Martin, and Tipitz and Thomas, and had had two more world decisions. There were only five bouts on the program or Messrs. Moogan and Shortell, the judges, would have further distinguished themselves. Four of the contests were called draws, and the decision in the other went to the wrong man.

Judging from their proficiency in the matter of draws it was evident that Shortell and Moogan were skillful billiardists. In the final contest Terry Martin had so wide a margin of advantage at the close of the tenth round that even a man in the bleachers could not have failed to pick the Providence man as the victor. Martin landed three blows to Curtin's one, did nearly all the leading and was superior in defense. Little matter of effectiveness there was little choice. Each landed some blows that shook his opponent. Curtin is slow and lacks aggressiveness, and did little but try for a knockout punch that never landed. Curtin's style played in Martin's hands, who went around his man like a cooper about a barrel.

The contest between the skinny but wiry Andy Thomas and the stocky punch defying Joe Tipitz was also called a draw by the judges. Possibly the judges thought Tipitz was entitled to a draw because he took a pummeling that would have knocked out almost any other man and still remained on his feet at the close. Thomas kept a long left arm shooting a glove into Tipitz's mouth and nose from the first tap of the bell in the first round to the end of the tenth round. Tipitz, to show how hard his face was, at times stuck out his chin and let Thomas pound it. Thomas staggered Tipitz several times but failed to bring him down. At infrequent intervals Tipitz rushed Thomas against the ropes and mauled him after the manner of Harry Greb, but Thomas never was shaky on his pins.

Frankie Jerome, who had been matched to box Danny Lee, was unable to appear because of an abscess on the arm, and Billy Rycroft was substituted. They started off in a suspicious manner, but after the referee had threatened to throw them both out of the ring they became active. Lee forced the pace all the way, punched Rycroft to a standstill several times, won the bout by a wide margin and then heard the judges declare Rycroft the winner.

A four round bout between Willie Darcy and Phil Rosenberg was called a draw when Rosenberg had a fair margin of advantage. A six round bout between Billy Levine and Young Ross was called a draw, yet Ross had a shade the better of the argument.

RITOLA IS VICTOR IN MARATHON RACE

Leads Throughout in Sixteen Mile Test—Kennedy Removed to Hospital.

William Ritola, the senior metropolitan cross country champion, won the modified marathon under the auspices of the Italian newspaper Il Popolo through the streets of the city yesterday in impressive style. He led from start to finish and was given a fine ovation by 6,000 persons, mostly Italians, as he circled the saucer course of the New York Velodrome on the final lap of his long journey.

Albert Michaelson of the Cygnets A. C. of Port Chester, N. Y., was second and Frank Titterton of the Glencoe A. C. was third. The winner covered the course which embraced territory extending from the office of Il Popolo at 180 North street to 225th street and which measures about sixteen miles in 1 hour 20 minutes 52 seconds.

William Kennedy of the Cygnets A. C. was knocked down by an automobile at 137th street and Seventh avenue and had to be removed to the Harlem Hospital, where a surgeon put eight stitches in the injured athlete's upper lip.
